Editors: LAUREL NORRIS, JANE SABISTON

Adviser: MISS MARY McKENNA

Dedication

TO THE NORTH CENTRAL BOYS IN OUR ARMED SERVICES—to those who have given their lives, to those who are now serving on far-flung battle fronts and in camps far from home, and to those boys who soon will enter the service of their country, it is only fitting that we dedicate this 1945 Tamarack. Without their sacrifices and loyalty, our way of life, our schools, and this year book would not be possible. It is our sincere hope and prayer that before the close of another school year, these boys will be reunited with their families and that a lasting peace will have been established—"that these dead shall not have died in vain."

○ *Marching along together,
Sharing every song and cheer,
Marching along together,
Whistling 'til the skies are clear.*

Our Service Flag

Major George Sander looks at the service flag while home on leave in December from the European Theater of Operations. Major Sander wears the presidential unit citation with three oak leaf clusters, and five stars signifying service in Iceland, Greenland, England, North Africa and Italy. He is not only a North Central graduate, January '29, but also a member of the faculty.

North Central's Service Honor Roll

The names in the following list, with the exception of the Gold Stars, are supplementary to those published in the 1944 Tamarack. Only the names of those who have been graduated or who attended North Central as their last high school are included.

Foreword

ONE HUNDRED YEARS after Columbus discovered America, Robert Gray sighted the shores of Washington. Since then, the lumbering industry has been of prime importance in the growth of the state.

In the present war, wood is being used directly or indirectly in the construction of almost every machine. The Mosquito bombers are made of ply wood. The famed P-T boats are also constructed of wood, and it takes tons and tons of paper for the blueprints of our mighty planes and battleships.

In the post war era, trees will play an all-important role. New plastics have been developed from wood and the list of wood products is steadily growing.

The mighty forests, the thousands of square miles of virgin timber have built the state of Washington and will continue to contribute to a great Northwest after the war. For this reason we have chosen the tree as a fitting symbol for this fourth war-time Tamarack.

A. S. C. Activities

THE ASSOCIATED STUDENT COUNCILS, composed of the executive council of the Boys' Federation and the Central council of the Girls' League, conducts the student government and sponsors many of the school projects.

The Totem Inn, introduced and sponsored this year by the A. S. C., has been the scene of much enjoyment throughout the year, for it is here that the squaws and braves dance before school.

The A. S. C. "Pow Wow" was held in January, and old time and modern dancing was enjoyed. Two convocations, "Tepee Talks" and the Color week convocation were also sponsored by the A. S. C.

Three big dances of the year, the Tomahawk Toddle, the Sadie Hawkins and the Varsity Ball were among other A. S. C. activities.

THE JUNIOR RED CROSS, with Miss Bertha Boehme as adviser, collected this year $356 in dues to be used by the Red Cross clinic.

The group successfully conducted drives for the Red Cross and other war charities. The drives included: The collection of ash trays; of potted bulbs for Baxter; gifts for soldiers at Galena along with the collection of Christmas tree ornaments and favors; the gathering of games and playing cards; clothing collection for Russian War Relief; the making of puzzle booklets; and making up of gift boxes for Filipino children.

The home economics classes under the direction of Miss Bessie Graham made for the Red Cross: 351 pairs of hospital slippers, 32 kimonos, 25 housewives (soldiers kits) and donated 96 wash cloths.

Conduct Board

ORGANIZED IN 1923, the Student Conduct board is composed of a president, a secretary, the commissioners of the traffic and grounds squads and the locker and convocation commissioners.

The two most important of these groups are the traffic and grounds squads. The traffic squad was organized in 1920 by Lowell C. Bradford, boys' adviser, to maintain law and order in the halls and to prevent confusion around the school.

When in 1931 another conduct group was found necessary, the grounds squad was organized, the duties of this group being to keep the grounds free from waste paper and to prevent smoking on or about the school grounds. The appointees of the Conduct board are subject to approval of the A.S.C.

If a student receives a conduct card and believes it unjust, he may appeal his case to the board. Three types of sentences are given by the board: Guilty, not guilty and suspended sentence. Adviser to the squads is Charles A. Chandler.

The North Central News

THE NORTH CENTRAL NEWS, first published in 1917, started as a five-column monthly, later developing into a seven-column weekly. Because of wartime paper shortage, the paper was cut to a six-column weekly during the fall of 1942.

Numerous awards have been received, including the National Scholastic Press association Pacemaker given to the 12 top high school papers in the nation. This was received three times, in 1939, 1940 and 1941. The News has won all-American rating for eight consecutive years.

Since 1941, war effort coverage has been stressed, with bond drives and Junior Red Cross projects given special attention.

Editors for this year were: Fall, Gertrude Blank; spring, Carolyn Freeborg, Geneva Withers. Associate editors: Fall, Gene Hergert, Joyce Kirk; spring, Merle Derrick. News editors: Fall, Gerald Deery; spring, Jim Spoerhase. Editorial page editors: Jane Sabiston; Virginia Ferguson. Sports: Merle Derrick, Bill Thompson, Carolyn Freeborg, Peggy DeMander; Bill Thompson, Dave Kirk, Maxine McDougall, Peggy DeMander. Feature editors: Virginia Ferguson; Elaine Peoples. Copy editors: Geneva Withers; Lucille Johnson, Jane Sabiston.

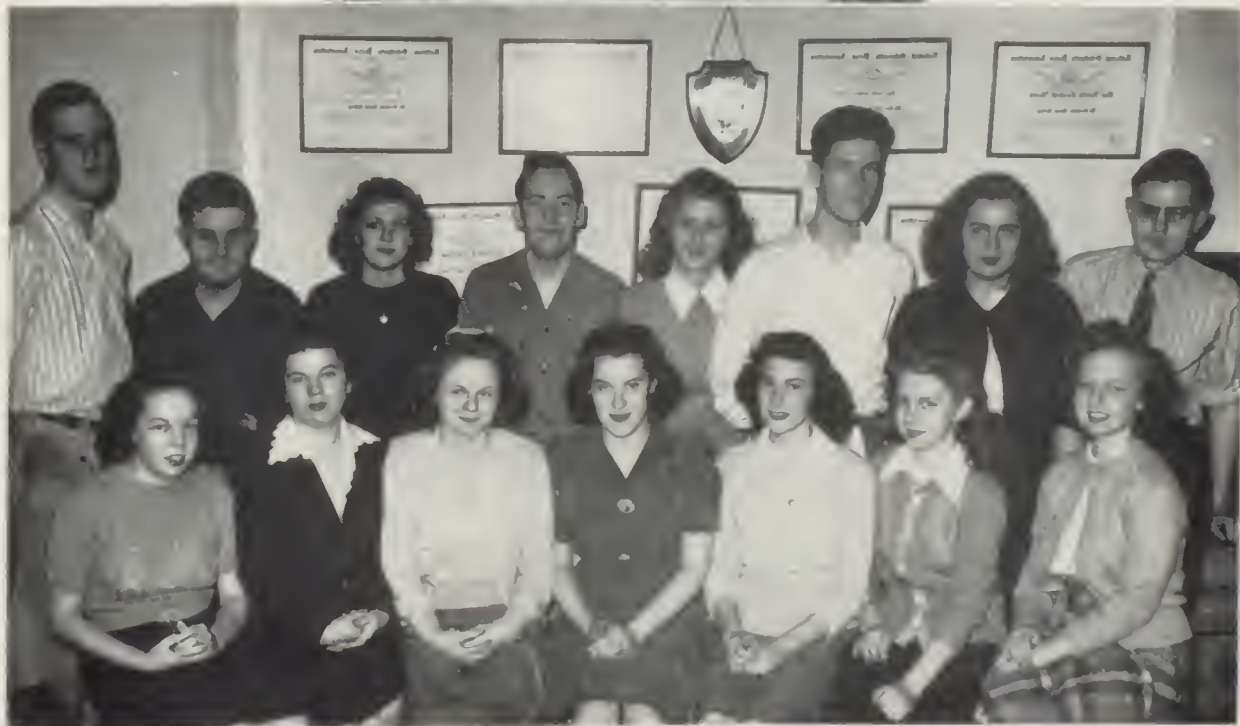

Business manager: Stan Johnson; advertising managers, Doris Nelson, Pat Hudson; circulation, Ernest Sackett, Dale Ure, Bill Deno; bookkeepers, Louise Cosby, Lucille Johnson. Miss Mary McKenna is faculty adviser. Joe Stroud is supervisor at the print shop, Spokane Trade school, where The News is printed.

The Tamarack

THE FIRST TAMARACK, which appeared in 1909, was an all-school publication, published once every six weeks. Later on, it became a semi-annual book, and finally, an annual.

The yearbook has had many names, among them are: The Memorial, The Northern Light and The Talaki. In 1925, it was again given the name, "The Tamarack" and still remains the "Tamarack."

This '45 edition of the Tamarack, is dedicated to our boys who have gone into our country's service. This dedication is to honor them in our own small way, and to show our gratitude to them.

The North Central Band

WITH A FALL ENROLLMENT of 129, and a spring enrollment of 130, the North Central band was the largest in several years.

The first public appearance of the group this year was its participation in cooperation with the Red Feathers in the winning half-time stunt at the Merry-Go-Round.

Another stunt, "Grandfather's Clock," was presented, with the Red Feathers, between halves at the N.C.-Rogers night game. On Nov. 11, the band, Red Feathers and Color Girls led the Armistice Day parade. The band furnished music for the memorial service held at the American Legion centotaph.

The forty-first annual formal concert was presented Wednesday evening, April 11. Other spring activities included furnishing music for the bi-ennial spring pageant and participating in the spring music festival.

The band presented two pay convocations, the first being presented on Jan. 18 and the second on April 10. Both convocations featured the concert band and the Pep band.

THE MOST ACTIVE GROUP within the band during the past year was the Pep band. This group played for innumerable occasions during the fall semester, among them being the Red Cross convocation, pep convocations, the senior class play and the annual Chronicle-Fox Football rally. Leader of the Pep band for the fall semester was David Harry.

Spring activities of the Pep band included playing at convocations, performing at the U. S. O. and at a Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon. They also entertained the convalescent airmen at Fort George Wright. Al Wilson was leader of the group during the spring semester.

Replacing the Derby band this year were the PajaMers, a novelty group made up of eight boys from the band. The main stunt of this group was depicting the apple scene from the

The Orchestra

PROVIDING BACKGROUND music for baccalaureate and commencement services, operettas and senior class plays comprises the most important work of the orchestra. This organization of 38 members is directed by C. Olin Rice, head of the music department.

The orchestra, and the Three Fives, presented an invitational convocation this spring.

The Merry-Go-Round

FOR THE THIRD TIME in the past four years, North Central won the Athletic Round Table trophy at the annual Vic Desert Merry-Go-Round game at Gonzaga stadium, Sept. 15.

"Salute to Farragut," theme of the stunt, portrayed the life of a navy recruit from the time he arrived at camp until the time he became a "salty seaman."

Taking part in the stunt were the Red Feathers, under the leadership of Elsa M. Pinkham; the Color Girls, under the supervision of Mrs. Gladys Dunphy; and the North Central band, under the direction of Lowell C. Bradford.

The Whole Town's Talking

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Miss Grace Gorton, "The Whole Town's Talking," was presented by the January senior dramatics class to a matinee and an evening audience, Nov. 2 and 3.

Chester Binny, a slovenly business man, attempts to win the hand of his partner's daughter in marriage.

To prove he is a man of the world, Chester makes up a love affair with a movie queen. From there on, it is a hilarious mixup until the whole town's talking.

The Night of January 16th

GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY? Did Karen Andre murder her employer or not? This question was answered April 26 and 27 when the June dramatic class presented "The Night of January 16th."

The three acts represented three days of a murder trial. Twelve jurors were picked from the audience at each performance and they made their own decision. Two endings were memorized by the cast. One for the verdict of "guilty" and one for the verdict of "not guilty."

The Operetta

"AND IT RAINED," the thirty-third operetta given by North Central students, was presented in the North Central auditorium on the evenings of Dec. 8 and 9.

The operetta, under the direction of Miss Grace Gorton, dramatics; Miss Elsa Pinkham, dancing; and C. Olin Rice, music, was a comedy of weary travellers who were stranded at the Wise Hotel. However, Mr. Wise, owner of the hotel, didn't let his guests become bored. Instead, he presented them with some excellent entertainment, among which were numbers by the chorus, the Victory dance, the Slave dance, Indian dance and others. Highlight of the evening was Maibelle Rich singing "Whippoorwill" from "Sylvia," the first operetta given by North Centralites.

Cast of characters included: LaVerne Kent,

The Tango, one of the many colorful dances of the operetta.

The Princess Con

DORIS JUNE NELSON, elected football princess by the student body, received the traditional princess bracelet at a convocation Oct. 13, 1944. Attendants to the princess were Ruth Salmon and Betty Jo Lyon.

Other 12A Red Feathers who were eligible for princess were: Mary Bailey, Shirley Morgan, Shirley Murbach, Laurel Norris, Dorothy Piper, Barbara Ramey and Joy Zeitler.

Red Feathers opened the convocation by singing a parody to "Red Wing," followed by an Indian dance. Marylin Peterson was accompanist for the group.

Donajeanne Russell, Marjorie Scott, Marjorie Dean, Marilyn Perry, Pat Rule and Elizabeth Fruin made up a sextette that sang "Indian Dawn." Marjorie Scott, soloist, also sang "Indian Love Call."

Mary Lou Cleave, A. S. C. president, presented Doris with the Indian bracelet, followed by a short congratulatory speech by Principal

Practicing for the spring pageant, "Dance, Girl, Dance"

Frederic G. Kennedy and a pep talk by the Princess.

The Spring Sports Princess, who was crowned at the Spring Pageant, was chosen by popular vote. This new method was designated by the A. S. C. Thirty-one senior A Red Feathers were eligible for Spring Princess.

The Stage Crew

THE STAGE CREW, under the direction of J. D. Youngman, plays a vital role in the activities of the school. Without their help, many operettas, Doll Shops, class plays and convocations would have sadly lacked both color and glamour.

Jobs of the stage crew vary. Among them are: To keep the stage in repair, to set up props and scenery, to care for the lighting system and to do other odd jobs about the stage.

Shirley Stablein, manager of the crew for the latter part of the spring semester, succeeded Jim MacDonald, who is now in the Navy.

Frank Wilmering, also of the stage crew, has entered the Coast Guard.

SCHOOL LIFE

School Life

Dear Sue:

We arrived in Spokane yesterday, and it was a delight to see Alice again. She took me to North Central (she's a senior now, you know), and I visited classes with her.

First period she has "U. S." from Mr. Ramsey. He's head of the history department. It happened to be current-events day. One day a week is set aside in each history class for Observer Magazine, it's really "neat" for current events. Other social studies are: Washington state history, world history 1 and 2, American government, problems in American democracy and psychology.

Languages

"BUENOS DIAS, SENORITA." I brushed up on my Spanish when we stopped in to see Miss Boehme. She invited us into her Spanish 3 class. This class is concerned with writing and speaking, while the first year group studies grammar, sentence construction and simple conversation.

The Latin room is right down the hall so we went there. Miss Prince explained that first year Latin includes construction, vocabulary and reading. The second year is the study of myths and Julius Caesar.

English

ON OUR WAY to second period, Alice suggested we stop in room 207 to see Miss Clarke. She was "just swell" about explaining the English department to us. English 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 is required for graduation. The program for these six classes has been revised recently by a committee of English teachers. College literature and English for everyday use is offered to seniors. Speech and senior dramatics is taught by Miss Gorton, who joined the North Central faculty this year.

Standing around the table mixing a cake in Miss Neuman's food class are: Dorothy Stan, Audrey Riblet, Jane Nolen, Jean Beaghan.

Home Economics

WHILE STROLLING down the hall, we noticed a pleasant aroma coming from room 14. We went in to find the girls just taking a casserole out of the oven. In this foods 1 class not only the preparation of foods is studied but also meal planning, packed lunches and nutrients. Foods 2 is a continuation of foods 1.

Clothing 1 and 2, along with clothing selection, is offered also. Two credits in home economics are required for graduation.

Home Nursing

HOME NURSING is a war time class, under the supervision of the Red Cross. It is taught by Mrs. Hamblin, nurse, and Miss Graham, and is especially interesting to girls desiring to enter cadet nursing. If anyone at home becomes ill, any member of this class will know exactly what to do, because the girls are taught how to bathe a patient, to give medicines, to care for mother and baby and to recognize symptoms of illness.

Mathematics

SOMETIMES I DO everything wrong! Alice and I were gabbing in the hall, not paying much attention to where we were going when I bumped right into Mr. Nygaard. I blurted out "Oops, I'm sorry!" and then felt silly. I wanted to talk to him anyway so this was my opportunity.

As we walked to his room (118), he explained the various courses of the mathematics department. Math 1 and 2 is the study of everyday arithmetic and its application to current problems, the metric system, algebra and elementary geometry. These courses are required for graduation. Geometry 1 and 2 and algebra 3 follow math 1 and 2 in order. Algebra 4, solid geometry, trigonometry, and aeronautics 1 and 2 may be taken in any order. Aeronautics is open to juniors and seniors but preferably to those who are enrolled in or have enrolled in physics. It has definite pre-induction value for all boys and will be of value after the war in the growing field of aviation.

TOP: Eugene Grandinette and Arthur Nuestel are standing at the board working a problem in Mr. Barnard's trigonometry class.

Science

AS WE WALKED into room 300, the chemistry lab, we saw the students conducting experiments. Mr. Hix, head of the science department, explained that they were making iodine crystals which are steel gray in color. The solution of these crystals in alcohol makes the well known tincture of iodine—just an example of what happens in chemistry class.

Alice then directed me to Miss Timm's room (also on the third floor). She teaches biology and at the time of our arrival was displaying a few wild flowers which all the class must collect. Any sophomore or junior may enroll in this class.

Science 1 and 2 is open to freshmen only. This class is very elementary and non-mathematical. Physics 1 and 2 is also taught and offered only to juniors and seniors who have had math 1 and 2.

Mr. Riffin, Mr. Neuman, Mr. Tobie and Mr. Bonamy are the other science teachers. According to Mr. Hix, approximately 675 students were enrolled in the science department during the spring semester.

Joyce McDonald and Glen Michaels put the finishing touches on hangings made for Baxter Hospital.

Pat Hall, Lorraine Hildahl and Clea Diehl are doing the art work for the Tamarack.

Displayed here are the signs for the lower hall which were made by Ronald and Ray Etten, Glen Michaels and Mr. Theodorson, adviser.

Fine Arts

WHILE WE WERE in the locker rooms combing our hair, I noticed Alice's bracelet. She said she had made it in her jewelry class; so naturally we had to go there. I was introduced to Miss Ashley and spent a very enjoyable hour. The class has made everything from book ends to rings, and you'd be surprised how attractive they are.

Miss Ashley told us of the other classes of the art department. Art 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 are offered in the order named. Lettering is open to juniors and seniors who have had previous art work. Weaving, block figuring, pottery, dyeing are taught in crafts 1 and 2, which is open to all girls. Art appreciation gives a basis for enjoying all phases of art and is open to juniors and seniors.

Mr. Theodorson has charge of signs for the lower hall. Glen Michaels does the sketching, and the twins, Ronald and Ray Etten, do the printing. They work down in the little theater. This department also does the art work for the Tamarack.

Miss Ashley's jewelry class is busily working on their book ends, rings and bracelets.

Industrial Arts

ASIDE FROM BEING almost trampled to death (the locker rooms are down there and it was between fifth and sixth), I really enjoyed going down to the sub-basement to gaze admiringly at the projects the boys made in the shop. They are very beautiful pieces of work. J. D. Youngman, head of the industrial arts department, showed me around. The boys have made desks, bunk beds, end tables, coffee tables, dressers and lawn furniture.

The shop also completed about 75 bookcases and filing cases for almost every grade school in the district. These bookcases are modernistic and may be arranged various ways. Two filing cases were made for North Central. Shop 1, 2, and 3 is offered but not required.

Other courses in the industrial arts department are aircraft, woodworking, mechanical drawing 1 and 2, machine drawing 1 and 2, architectural drawing 1, 2, and 3. These classes are taught by Mr. Frazier and Mr. Theodorsen.

According to Mr. Youngman, there are over 300 boys (and a few girls) enrolled in the industrial arts department.

Machine drawing attracts girls as well as boys, as shown in Mr. Frazier's fifth period class.

Ray Mehl and Don Locken are putting the finishing touches on bookcases made by members of the shop.

"In the good old summertime." Harry Weisser plans to enjoy it with the boat he is making. Gene Hendricks looks on.

Fern Kannberg and Helen Lamberson are studying the mimeograph in Mr. Streiter's office practice class.

" TO THE SHORES of Tripoli." No, not a music class; it's just Mr. Streiter's typing 1 class beating the typewriter in time with a march. This is just the beginners' class. Typing 2, 3, and 4 are continuation.

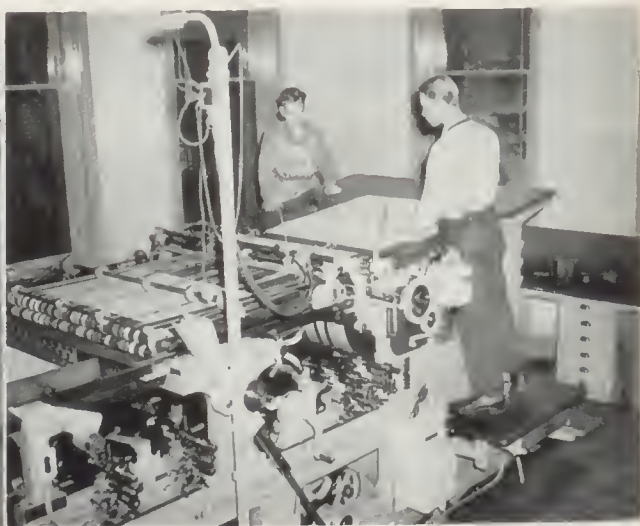

A major in commercial requires stenography 1, 2, 3, and 4, office practice and two years of typing. Bookkeeping 1, 2, 3 and 4, typing 1, and business law may also be taken for a major. Business English and commercial law is open to seniors.

Retail Training

BEFORE I FINISHED my tour, I just had to see the courses taught at the Spokane Trade School. Retail training, taught by Mr. Cook, sounds very interesting. It requires two periods a day, either a lecture at North Central or display work at the trade school. Each member of the class must be working in a retail store, and only senior B's may enroll. Modern principles of buying and selling, materials, cash machines and employment are stressed in this course.

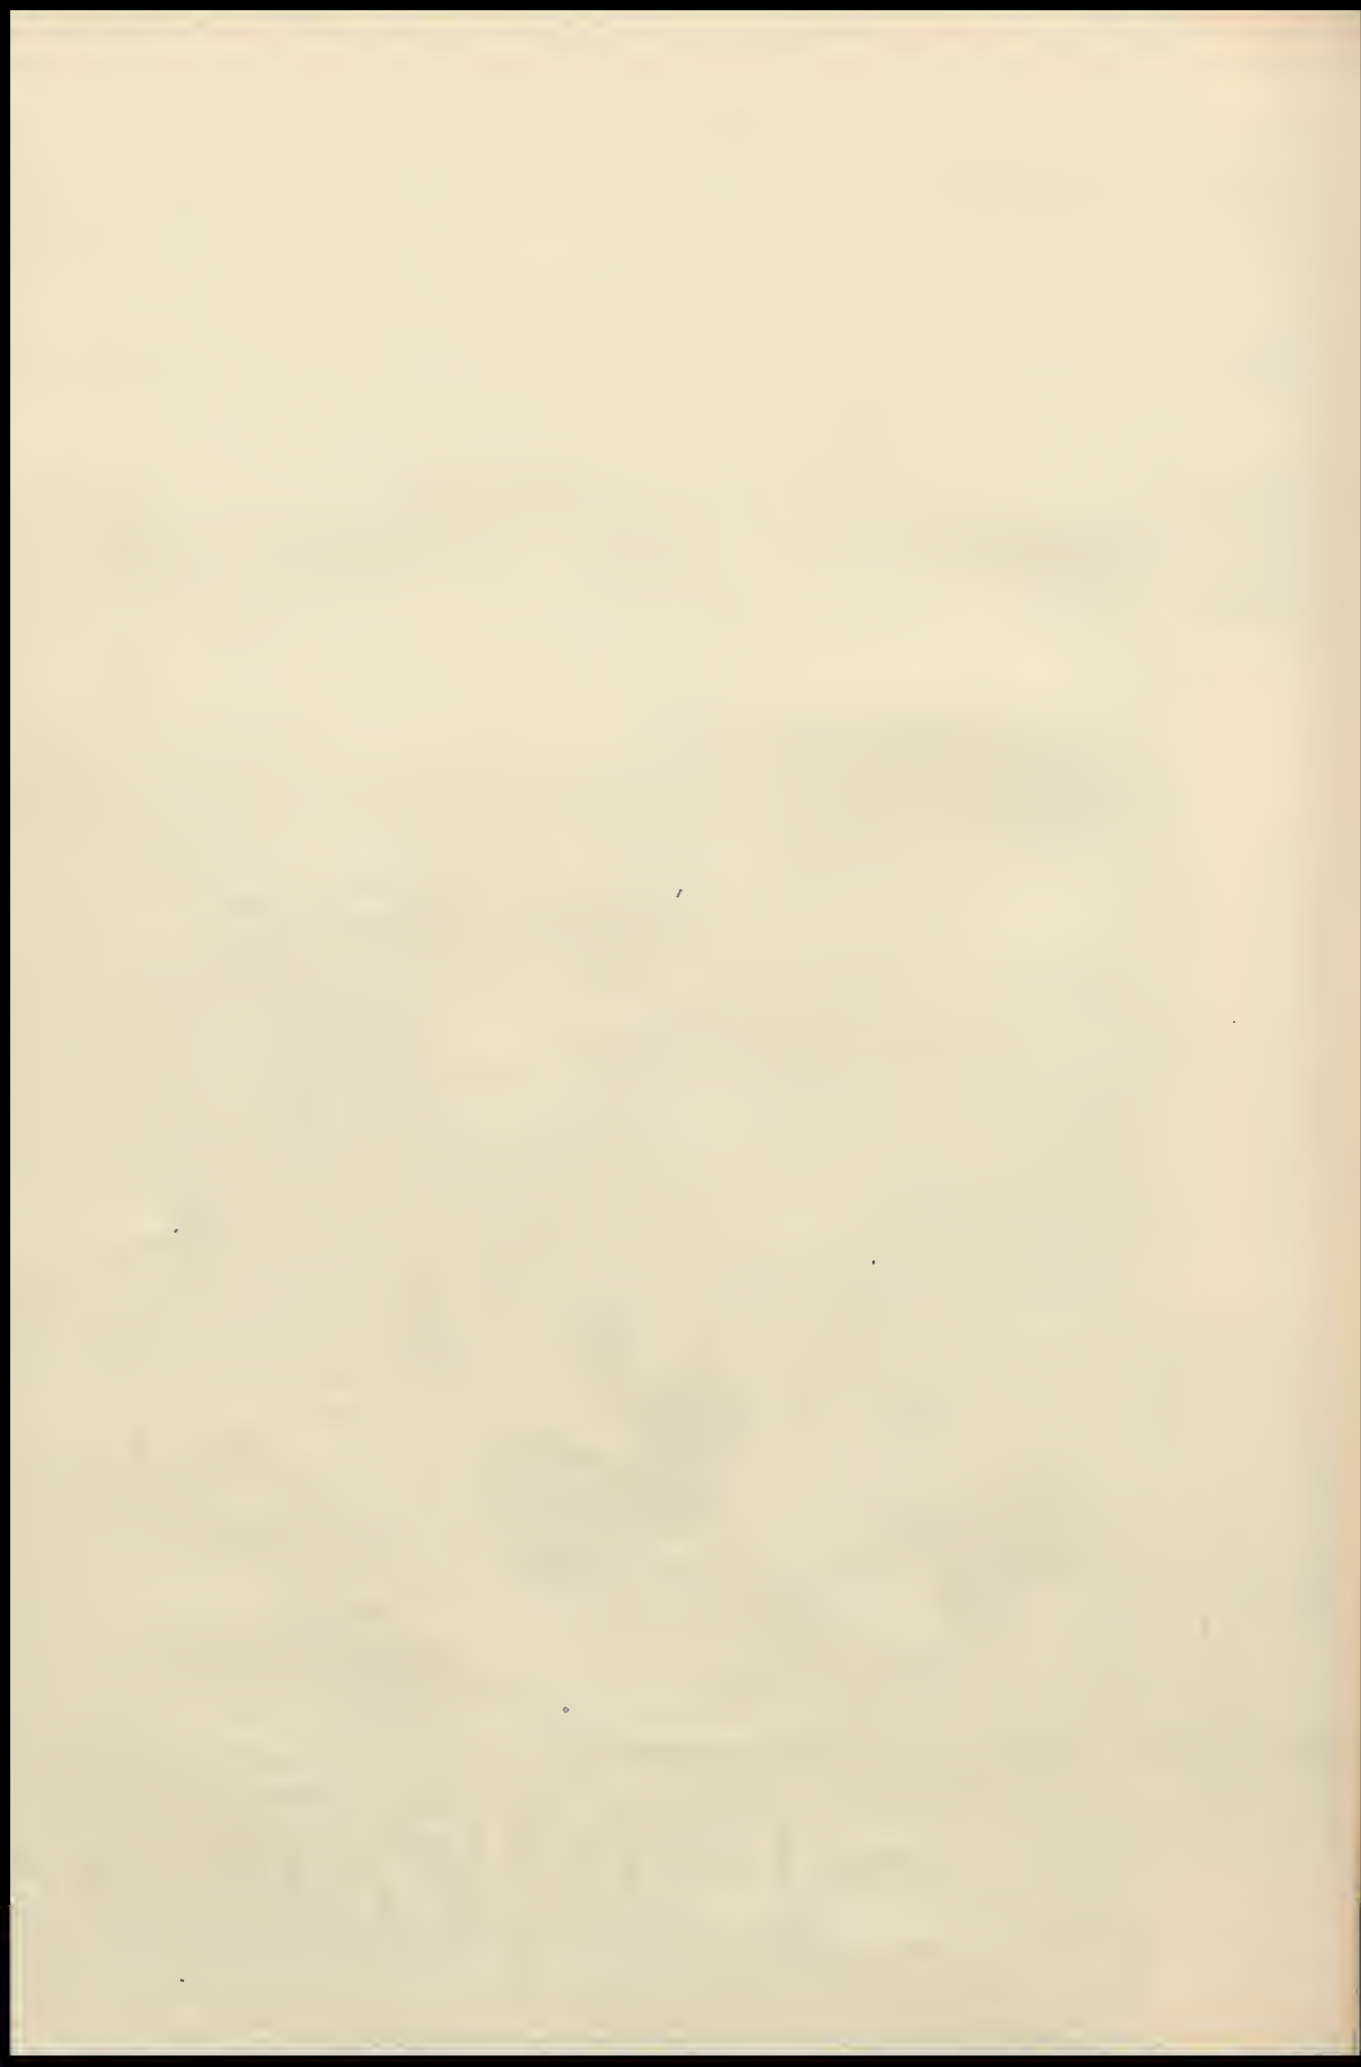

Members of the retail training class are lined up on either side of the window display, with Laura Crow and Dona Conrad modeling.

Two North Central students are learning to run the presses at the print shop. These presses print The News.

SPORTS

In Memoriam

"On the fields of friendly strife are sown the seeds which, in other years, on other fields, will bear the fruits of victory."—General MacArthur.

"On the fields of friendly strife . . ." Archie Buckley will be remembered by all who knew him as a fiery coach who never gave up. When his team won, he was the happiest guy in the world. Many times when the team was fighting a losing game, the tired, weary players would look over and see "Buck" pacing the sidelines, urging them on, fighting with them every inch of the way. Then they would grit their teeth and fight a little harder, often to victory, for their coach. "Buck," the fighting coach who never gave up—and the players loved him for it.

". . . which in other years, on other fields, will bear the fruits of victory." On that fateful spring day in 1945, Archie Buckley sacrificed his life for his country. It's a sure thing that he went down with a fighting word on his lips.

When, in games of future years, a North Central team is down and out, the players might look through the haze of the lighted ball-park and see Coach Buckley standing on the sidelines. Then they'll grit their teeth and fight a little harder.

"In other years . . . on other fields, the fruits of victory." Archie Buckley is gone. The best of players are called out on a sacrifice.

Senior A Athletics

WORKING on a war-time basis, the physical education department, under the direction of J. Wesley Taylor and Guy O. Barnes, have devoted a period a day again this year to senior boys in a pre-induction fitness course.

Exercises and games to develop strength, endurance, stamina, body coordination, and physical skills that will be of direct value to the graduates who enter the armed forces or war work, were included in the program.

Physical activities include aquatics, gymnasium, combatives and sports. These are done to give the boy the extra strength and stamina that will be needed in the near future. Hygiene, health, first aid and life saving, classes of the less competitive nature were also given as an essential part of the training.

Swimming has become an important part of the training as is the obstacle course. The boys were put through this many times in an attempt to improve themselves and their time in completing the course.

This program is considered not only essential for those expecting to go into the armed services, but for those taking part in agriculture, industry, commerce, domestic services and other occupations.

Going Through the Obstacle Course

Football

SCORING THE EXACT number of points as their opponents, the North Central Indians copped three out of seven contests in the 1944 football season. Every contest was close and North Central received more than its share of bad breaks.

The Indians were regarded from the start of the season as tough customers, with an extremely powerful line and a versatile backfield led by Frank Miyaki. The warriors boasted a line composed of: Ends, Larry Ellison, Grover Clark, Walt Rameriz, Bob Denning; tackles, Doug King, Jack LaRue, Don Rohlf, "Clem" Crowston; guards, Bill Taylor, Bob Allen, John Mancheni, Bob Fulsom; centers, Lee Wright, Floyd Crowe.

North Central's best game was a 14-0 victory over L. C. The feature of the game was a 95-yard run back of the opening kickoff by Frankie Miyaki.

Frank Miyaki, halfback, and Bob Allen, guard, were chosen on the all-city first squad. Those on the second team were: Larry Ellison, Bill Taylor, Doug King and Cliff Schultz.

Basketball

THE BASKETBALL SQUAD for 1944-45 ended the regular city play with no victories against nine losses, the first time in two decades that an Indian team was unable to win at least one game.

However, the team had more than its share of the bad breaks, losing four of their nine games by four points or less. Two other games were close; and in only three of the games were the Indians soundly beaten.

In pre-season games Kellogg, Grand Coulee, Priest River and Mason City fell to the Indians, before Pine City snapped the win streak. Coeur d'Alene and Wallace were beaten, and then the Indians entered the West Valley tournament. Central Valley and St. John hung up wins over the Warriors, while Wallace was again beaten by the Indians.

Baseball

THE 1945 INDIAN baseball team is one of the best North Central has fielded in the past few seasons. The batting lineup this year was a powerful one which, at the third-way mark in the city schedule, boasted of four .300 hitters.

The Redmen got off to a good start as they won all three of their pre-season games. Errors by the Indians proved to be their downfall as they lost their first regular game to Gonzaga, 7 to 2. Although Bill Taylor pitched a good game, the Bullpups' hits combined with N. C. errors at the right times to produce the winning runs.

Speedball pitcher Earl Carrier got North Central back into the win column as he out-pitched two Rogers chuckers to win 4 to 1. He gave up only four hits while his teammates collected seven. The third game, played against Lewis and Clark, was a heart-breaker. The Indians were ahead until the fifth inning, when two errors were responsible for two L. C. runs. Although Grover Clark tripled and then scored on an error to tie the score, the Tigers came back in the last of the seventh to score one run and win the game. Again, errors had cost the game.

The support given by the student body at the games was excellent. At this writing, the Indians have six games to play, and with the help of the N. C. fans, they are out to turn all those games into victories.

Track

AS THE SEASON got under way, North Central's chances of winning track in 1945 lay in the hands of untried material, for the Indian squad boasted but five letterman with the remainder of the team having seen little, or no action, in city competition.

The loss of George Smith and Bill Ebbighausen to the service weakened still more the Warriors' chances. With them, the Indians would have been greatly strengthened in the distances.

Two dash men, Grover Clark and Neil Powell, were back as veteran performers. Powell won the 220 and 100-yard dashes against Gonzaga last year. A key veteran was Jerry Pomeroy. Jerry captured the 70-yard low hurdles at Pullman in a pre-season meet and looked like a prospect for the city title.

Jack Stafford and Al Wilson, both high hurdlers, complete the list of veterans. Stafford also broad jumps while Wilson does the high jump.

Pomeroy, Clark, Powell and Stan Johnson, a junior prospect, are the members of the relay team. A sophomore, Neil Williams, gave great promise of being a good distance man as he beat all North Central competition in pre-season races. John Bryhni, LaVern McVay and Ken Stickle were prospective hurdlers.

Boys' Tennis

AFTER HAVING their seven-year championship streak broken in 1942, the North Central Indians snapped back to their winning ways by taking the title in '43 and '44. Last year the Indians' singles team was undefeated in 60 matches, while the doubles squad won seven of 12 matches.

Returning for action in 1945 are letter-winners Al Wilson, Paul Lloyd and Doug Tellefson. Three other top performers are Ernie Bentley, John Schwarz and Ron Walker.

Dan Bond, Dave Langdon, Jerry Claussen, Bill Deno, George Gillette, Bill Ruddy, Bob Leach and Allen Waye are also outstanding. Paul Burgess, Stewart Davis, Tommy Edwards, Don Lewis, Kent Roberts and Ted Staples complete the list of those who turn out regularly.

Jack Tellefson won the city singles championship last year while Jack Tellefson and Paul Lloyd captured the doubles title.

Boys' Golf

FOR THE SECOND consecutive year, the Indian golf squad captured the city championship from their south side rivals, Lewis and Clark, by a score of 53 to 15.

The event that sparked this year's team was the State Junior Championship in Seattle last summer, when three of its members placed first, second and fifth.

The Indians this year were bolstered with five returning lettermen from last year's squad.

Bud Moe, Gene May, Spike Beeber, Bob Bleck, Bud Quackenbush and Dick Kirkendahl will be back next season, the only loss being the captain and State Champion, Bob Lyons who will be graduated in June.

In spite of the acute shortage of golf balls and war-time restrictions on transportation, the boys under the able direction of Walter C. Hawes not only went through the season with flying colors but also can lay claim to the Northwest or Pacific coast high school title.

Girls' Tennis

DURING THE FALL semester, the girls' tennis team defeated Rogers, but lost to the city league winner, Lewis and Clark.

In the spring, tournaments were played with Omak on May 5; Rogers, May 9; and Lewis and Clark, May 16.

Graduating members of the fall team were: Laurel Norris, captain; Mary Bailey, Mary Lou Cleave, Shirley Murbach and Shirlee Morgan. Girls to be graduated this spring are: Lillian Ballinski, Pat Creel, Phyllis Gazette, Pat Henefer, Billie Lovejoy, Marilyn Meister, and Jackie Stephens.

The team turnouts are every Monday and Wednesday period 6 and after school, and for special practices on Saturday morning from 8 to 11 a. m.

Managers for the spring semester were Marilyn Meister and Betty Lloyd, assistant; fall, Betty, manager, and Jane Pratt, assistant. Miss Elsa Pinkham, girls' physical education department head, is coach of the team.

Girls' Golf

THE GIRLS' GOLF team, coached by Miss Wilhelmine Timm, were defeated last fall by their only opponents, the Lewis and Clark Tigers. Tournaments were scheduled for May 14 and 21 this spring.

Pat Halstead was the only member of the team to be graduated last fall. This spring, Donna Pashek, captain, Elaine Davis, Molly Wagner and Colleen Wolfe will leave the team. Donna Pashek was manager for the fall semester, and Barbara Jerrow, for this semester.

The team meets every Tuesday and Thursday, period 6 and after school, when they travel to Downriver to be instructed by Neil Christian, golf pro. The girls are required to play 18 holes a week.

Ratings are given by a new method this spring. A ladder arrangement is used and team members challenge one another for top positions.
